$114,205 Art Sale Led by an Inness Bringing $17,000

Paintings Owned by the Late Ralph H. White and Others Sold at Auction.

Names that have often before been erowned with suction room fayor were applauded again last night. Inness, Corot and J. Francis Murphy were the leading stars in the sale in the Hotel Plaza of paintings from the collection of the late Ralph H. White, Bosion, and others by the American Art Association. The big Inness landscape, painted in the artist's early period, 1867, was the feature, going to W. W. Seaman, agent. for $17,000. This landscape, which Thom-E. Kirby, auctioneer, announced as his favorite in all American painting, howed a broad and prosperous valley with cattle grazing on the meadow. "Le Ruleseau au Cheval Blanc," by Corot, went to Bohumir Kyrl for $10,400, and the J. Francis Murphy landscape to H. Miller for $6,400.

The total for the evening (168 paintings), was $104,185, making the grand total for the collection $114,205.
